1. NATURE OF OPERATIONS, GOING CONCERN AND ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Alexandria Minerals Corporation (the "Company" or "Alexandria") is engaged in the acquisition, exploration and development of mineral resources properties in Canada. The Company is in the process of exploring, and has not yet determined whether there is an economically viable ore deposit on its properties. As such, there is uncertainty with respect to the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, dependent on such events as financing, discovery and market conditions.

The carrying amounts associated with the resource properties and capital assets represents costs incurred to date. The recoverability of these amounts is dependent upon the discovery of economically recoverable reserves, the ability of the Company to obtain financing to complete the exploration and development of the properties, the ability of the Company to maintain all necessary licenses, permits, and titles and upon future profitable production, or alternatively, upon the Company's ability to dispose of its interest on an advantageous basis.

The Company was incorporated on May 27, 2002.

To date the Company has not earned revenue from its mineral properties and is considered to be in the development stage.

The unaudited financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles for interim financial information. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and notes to the financial statements required by Canadian generally accepted accounting principles for annual financial statements. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring accruals) considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included. Operating results for the three and nine month periods ended January 31, 2006 may not necessarily be indicative of the results that may be expected for the year ending April 30, 2006.

The balance sheet at April 30, 2005 has been derived from the audited financial statements at that date but does not include all of the information and footnotes required by Canadian generally accepted accounting principles for complete financial statements. The interim financial statements have been prepared by management in accordance with the accounting policies described in the Company's annual financial statements for the year ended April 30, 2005. For further information, refer to the financial statements and notes thereto included in the Company's annual financial statements for the year ended April 30, 2005.

(1) On October 21, 2005, the Company completed the following private placements:

Non flow-through

1,219,900 units at a price of $0.15 per unit for gross proceeds of $182,985. Each unit consists of one common share and one common share purchase warrant. Each whole warrant is exercisable into one common share at a price of $0.30 for a period of two years. There was no value attributed to the warrants.

The fair value of the 1,219,900 warrants was estimated using the Black-Scholes pricing model based on the following assumptions: dividend yield of 0%; risk-free interest rate of 3.5%; expected life of two years; and volatility of 0%. A fair value of $nil was estimated.

Flow-through

100,000 flow-through common shares at a price $0.15 per flow-through common share for gross proceeds of $15,000. This amount will be renounced subsequent to December 31, 2005. This amount has been renounced and has created a future income tax liability of approximately $5,250 which has been allocated as a cost of issuing the flow-through shares.

3. SHARE CAPITAL (continued)

(2) On June 14, 2005, the Company completed a private placement by issuing 2,000,000 flow-through common shares at a price of $0.12 for gross proceeds of $240,000. This amount has been renounced and has created a future income tax liability of approximately $85,000 which has been allocated as a cost of issuing the flow-through shares.

(3) On October 28, 2004, the Company raised $7,000 in flow-through proceeds. This amount has been renounced and has created a future income tax liability of approximately $2,458 which has been allocated as a cost of issuing the flow-through shares.

4. CONVERTIBLE DEBENTURE

On December 16, 2004, the Company issued three convertible promissory notes (collectively, the "Convertible Notes") in the aggregate amount of $107,768. Each Convertible Note is unsecured, non-interest bearing and due on demand by the note holder. Each Convertible Note is convertible at the election of the Company into Common Shares of the Company at the rate of one Common Share for every $0.10 of outstanding principal amount (in respect of $75,208 of the aggregate amount of the Convertible Notes) and at the rate of one Common Share for every $0.15 of outstanding principal amount (in respect of $32,560 of the aggregate amount of the Convertible Notes). The Convertible Notes were issued by the Company in replacement of all of its outstanding long term debt.

On November 4, 2005, an accredited investor converted two of the convertible notes, and the Company issued 393,213 common shares covering the principal amount of $50,175.

5. LOSS PER SHARE (LPS)

Basic loss per share is computed by dividing the loss for the period by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period, including contingently issuable shares which are included when the conditions necessary for issuance have been met. Diluted loss per share is calculated in a similar manner, except that the weighted average number of common shares outstanding is increased to include potentially issuable common shares from the assumed exercise of common share purchase options and warrants, if dilutive. The number of additional shares included in the calculation is based on the treasury stock method for options and warrants. The effect of potential issuances of shares under options and warrants would be anti-dilutive, and accordingly basic and diluted LPS are the same.

6. INCOME TAXES

The estimated taxable income for the period is $nil. Based upon the level of historical taxable income, it cannot be reasonably determined if the Company will realize the benefits from future income tax assets or the amounts owing from future income tax liabilities. Consequently, the future recovery or loss arising from differences in tax values and accounting values have been reduced by an equivalent estimated taxable temporary difference valuation allowance. This estimated taxable temporary difference valuation allowance will be adjusted in the period that it can be determined that it is more likely than not that some or all of the future tax assets or future tax liabilities will be realized.

The fair value of the 333,333 warrants was estimated using the Black-Scholes pricing model based on the following assumptions: dividend yield of 0%; risk-free interest rate of 3.7%; expected life of two years; and volatility of 0%. A fair value of $nil was estimated.

Alexandria Minerals Corporation (the "Company") is engaged in the acquisition, exploration and development of mineral resources properties in Canada. The Company is in the process of exploring, and has not yet determined whether there is an economically viable ore deposit on its properties. As such, there is uncertainty with respect to the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, dependent on such events as financing, discovery and market conditions.

The carrying amounts associated with the resource properties and capital assets represents costs incurred to date. The recoverability of these amounts is dependent upon the discovery of economically recoverable reserves, the ability of the Company to obtain financing to complete the exploration and development of the properties, the ability of the Company to maintain all necessary licenses, permits, and titles and upon future profitable production, or alternatively, upon the Company's ability to dispose of its interest on an advantageous basis.

The Company was incorporated on May 27, 2002.

To date the Company has not earned revenue from its mineral properties and is considered to be in the development stage.

Subsequent Events

On March 22, 2006, the Company successfully completed its initial public offering ("IPO") for gross proceeds of $1,500,000.

The Company's shares have been approved for listing on the TSX Venture Exchange and will be listed for trading on March 24, 2006 under the ticker symbol AZX.

The IPO consisted of the issuance of 6,000,000 units at an issue price of $0.25 per unit. Each unit consists of one common share and one warrant of Alexandria, each warrant entitling the holder thereof to purchase one additional common share at an exercise price of $0.30 for a period of 24 months from the closing of the IPO, subject to accelerated expiry should the common shares trade at a weighted average trading price of $0.50 or higher for a period of 20 consecutive trading days.

Bolder Investment Partners Ltd. acted as agent for the offering and received a cash commission of 7.5% of the gross proceeds as well as a work fee of $10,000 and 50,000 common shares. In addition, Bolder and members of its selling group received agent's options entitling them to acquire 900,000 common shares at an exercise price of $0.25 for a period of 24 months from the closing of the initial public offering, subject to the same accelerated expiry provisions as the warrants.

Results of Operations

Third Quarter 2006

During the 3 months ended January 31, 2005, the Company was focused on corporate development, primarily on advancing its efforts in securing a public listing on the Toronto Venture Exchange (“TSX-V”) and maintaining its status as a reporting issuer.

The net loss for the three month period ended January 31, 2006 was ($6,665), a small reduction from the three month loss to October 31, 2005 of ($17,238) and compared with a loss of ($94,379) during the quarter ended January 31, 2005. The relative improvement in the latest quarter primarily reflects future income tax recovery of $90,250, lower professional fees, in addition to lower travel and entertainment costs. These improvements were partially offset by increased management fees (described in “Transactions with Related Parties” below), as well as higher office and general expenses.

The Company capitalizes property and exploration costs. During the three months ended January 31, 2006 property expenditures totaled $34,268. During the 9 months ended January 31, 2006, property expenditures by the Company, totaled $368,587. These costs pertained to exploration, property acquisition (both new acquisitions and meeting option agreement commitments), and ongoing property and geological research.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As a junior resource company, the issuer has no regular cash flow from operations, and the level of operations is principally a function of the availability of capital resources. To date, the principal source of funding has been through seed financings. Going forward, the issuer will have to continue to rely on equity or debt financings for its working capital. There is no guarantee that the Company will be able to successfully complete such financings, as market conditions may dictate availability and interest.

As of January 31, 2006, Alexandria had $nil cash compared with cash of $81,517 at October 31, 2005 and with $nil cash at January 31, 2005.

During the nine months ending January 31, 2006, the Company raised capital in the following private placements:

Non flow-through

1,219,900 units at a price of $0.15 per unit for gross proceeds of $182,985. Each unit consists of one common share and one common share purchase warrant. Each whole warrant is exercisable into one common share at a price of $0.30 for a period of two years. There was no value attributed to the warrants.

Flow-through

100,000 flow-through common shares at a price $0.15 per flow-through common share for gross proceeds of $15,000. This amount has been renounced and has created a future income tax liability of approximately $5,250 which has been allocated as a cost of issuing the flow-through shares.

On June 14, 2005, the Company completed a private placement by issuing 2,000,000 flow-through common shares at a price of $0.12 for gross proceeds of $240,000. This amount has been renounced and has created a future income tax liability of approximately $85,000 which has been allocated as a cost of issuing the flow-through shares.

On October 28, 2004, the Company raised $7,000 in flow-through proceeds. This amount has been renounced and has created a future income tax liability of approximately $2,458 which has been allocated as a cost of issuing the flowthrough shares.

Convertible Debenture

On December 16, 2004, the Company issued three convertible promissory notes (collectively, the "Convertible Notes") in the aggregate amount of $107,768. Each Convertible Note is unsecured, non-interest bearing and due on demand by the note holder. Each Convertible Note is convertible at the election of the Company into Common Shares of the Company at the rate of one Common Share for every $0.10 of outstanding principal amount (in respect of $75,208 of the aggregate amount of the Convertible Notes) and at the rate of one Common Share for every $0.15 of outstanding principal amount (in respect of $32,560 of the aggregate amount of the Convertible Notes). The Convertible Notes were issued by the Company in replacement of all of its outstanding long term debt.

Principal and accrued interest is payable on demand at the earliest of either; 60 days of the Company completing its initial public offering as set forth in a preliminary prospectus dated January 21, 2005 or October 31, 2005.

Proposed Transactions

As is typical of the minerals exploration and development industry, the company continues to review property and competitor company information in search of future opportunities in terms of new property acquisitions and business partnerships. Although no transactions are in progress in the immediate time frame, the Company endeavours to maintain research of potential opportunities, and to keep business relationships open should opportunities arise.

Risks and Uncertainties

Alexandria's business of exploring mineral resources involves a variety of operational, financial and regulatory risks that are typical in the natural resource industry. The Corporation attempts to mitigate these risks and minimize their effect on its financial performance, but there is no guarantee that the Corporation will be profitable in the future.

There can be no assurance that any funding required by the Corporation will become available to it, and if so, that it will be offered on reasonable terms, or that the Corporation will be able to secure such funding through third party financing or cost sharing arrangements. Furthermore, there is no assurance that the Corporation will be able either to secure a public listing for its equities or, operationally, to secure new mineral properties or projects, or that they can be secured on competitive terms.

Significant Accounting Policies

Mineral rights

The Corporation capitalizes all exploration costs that result in the acquisition and retention of resource properties or an interest therein. The amounts shown for resource properties on the financial statements represent costs to date, including acquisition, maintenance, exploration, salaries based on time spent, and management fees. All other costs are expensed as incurred. Mineral properties acquired for share consideration are recorded at the fair value of the shares at the date of the acquisition.

Foreign currency translation

There are no foreign currency translations required.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Impairment of long-lived asset

On an annual basis the Corporation reviews whether there are any indicators of impairment of its long-lived assets. If such indicators are present, the Corporation assesses the recoverability of the long-lived assets or group of assets by determining whether the carrying value of such assets can be recovered through undiscounted future cash flows. If the sum of undiscounted future cash flows is less than the carrying amount, the excess of the carrying amount over the estimated fair value, based on using discounted future cash flows, is recorded as a charge to net income. The current year's review concluded that no write-down was necessary.

Future income taxes

Future income tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted income tax rates expected to apply on taxable income in the years in which temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on future income tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is included in the period of the enactment date. Future income tax assets are evaluated and if realization is not considered likely, a valuation allowance is provided.

Stock-based Compensation

The company grants stock options in accordance with TSX Venture Exchange policies. All stock-based payments are measured at the fair value of the consideration received or the fair value of the equity instruments issued, whichever is more reliably measurable, with that expense being charged to the related activity over the vesting period. Fair value is calculated using the Black Scholes model for pricing options. The cost of stock based payments that are fully vested and non-forfeitable at the grant date is measured and recognized at that date. On the exercise of stock options, consideration received and the accumulated contributed surplus amount are credited to share capital.
